SARAH CAPPS: THE SOUL OF LANDSCAPE AND OTHER EXPLORATIONS

Exhibit: September 5 - December 12
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

This retrospective exhibit includes not only Sarah Capps' well-known watercolors but also her work in jewelry-making and metalsmithing. All of her works reflect in some way the Southern Illinois landscape, in particular a creek and woods that run through her property. She dedicates this exhibition to the memory of her friend and mentor Brent Kington.

TO THE MOON AND BACK: RICHARD JUREK'S APOLLO LUNAR ARTIFACTS

Exhibit: August 19 - December 12
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Rich Jurek is a two-degree alumnus of SIU. He is a published poet and a marketing executive, but what really tickles his fancy is his impressive collection of space memorabilia, which he has amassed since the 1970s. The collection ranges from a checklist from the last moon mission to a trove of autographed $2 bills astronauts carried for good luck. “All of my interests as a kid - space, coin collecting, autographs are wrapped up in it,” he says.

Catch the space bug with us and see the SIU's College of Engineering's own contribution: a moon buggy SIU students have successfully raced at the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, Alabama.

EXQUISITE TREASURES FROM THE MUSEUM'S COLLECTION

Curated by Dona Bachman

Exhibit: through December 2015
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

There are many objects in the University Museum's 70,000+ collection that are not often on exhibit. They are not simply “in storage.” They are cared for, researched, shared with other museums, and preserved for future generations. In this exhibit, we bring out some of those special objects.
FANER HALL: CELEBRATING 40 YEARS OF HISTORY - CONTEMPORARY PHOTOGRAPHS BY DAN OVERTURF
Curated by Eric S. Jones
Exhibit: September 5 - Spring 2015
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Faner at 40 acknowledges Faner Hall's first four decades as one of the most dominant buildings on the SIU campus. The exhibit will explore various early master plans for campus expansion that lead up to Faner's construction as well as the history of what is now the Faner site. Outstanding aerial photographs of the site before, during, and after construction will also be featured as well as brand new photographic images of the building made by Dan Overturf.

THE MILEUR COLLECTION: THE ROOSEVELTS
Curated by Kyle Clymore
Exhibit: through December 1
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Dr. Mileur's rich collection of presidential political memorabilia provides an almost inexhaustible record of our country's leadership. This exhibit showcases political memorabilia associated with Theodore, Franklin, and Eleanor Roosevelt in conjunction with WSIU-TV's showing of the Ken Burns' series on this great political dynasty.

READY MADE ART
Curated by Bob DeHoet
Exhibit: September 5 - December 12
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Anna and Massac Junior High School along with Eldorado and Zeigler-Royalton High School students share their art works. Museum Educator, Bob DeHoet spent Spring 2014 visiting the schools and working with these students and their art teachers. Funding for this exhibition was provided through a grant from Carbondale Community Arts.

SIMS: SOUTHERN ILLINOIS METALSMITHS SOCIETY EXHIBITION
Exhibit: October 15 - 25
Reception: October 17, 4 - 7 p.m.

The annual exhibit brings the best of contemporary metalsmithing to campus. The exhibition is centered around a weekend of metal including workshops and an auction to benefit the School of Art & Design's metalsmith program. For detailed information, contact: dan.neville@siu.edu
C-4

Exhibit: November 4 - 21
Reception: November 14, 4 - 7 p.m.

C-4, the sculpture students give us an exhibit of their work.

SIUC MFA PREVIEW

Exhibit: November 7 - December 6
Reception: November 14, 4 - 7 p.m.

Each year, the University Museum presents a preview of work from M.F.A. candidate’s thesis exhibitions that will follow in 2015.

CONTINUING EXHIBITIONS

DARREN SCHROEDER: “LANDSCAPES FROM THE ROAD”

Exhibit: through September 19
Closing Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Darren Schroeder takes us along the backroads of Southern Illinois, discovering the human impact on even quiet places. This was his MFA thesis exhibition, College of Communication and Media Arts.

NEW DEAL ART NOW: A REFRAMING OF THE ARTIFACTS OF DIVERSITY
Curated by Jessica Allee

Exhibit: through November 1
Reception: September 12, 4 - 7 p.m.

Jessica Allee touches on the wide range of media, genres and artists represented in the University Museum's WPA collection as well as in borrowed works from the Illinois State Museum and the Southside Community Art Center in Chicago. Archival video and audio recordings are also included. This was her M.A. Art History thesis exhibition, College of Liberal Arts.