OUR MISSION

The University Museum, an educational institution within a larger institution, is committed to serving the Southern Illinois University campus community, the people of Southern Illinois, and visitors to our region. As a steward of Southern Illinois history and with an international collection, the museum is a portal to understanding the local and world heritage that has made us who we are. We collect, preserve, research, exhibit and educate using a diverse and engaging range of artifacts and educational methods on behalf of those we serve. As a teaching museum, we offer hands-on opportunities in progressive museum practices and provide leadership to museums across the region. Using both our own collection and bringing in exhibitions and programs from outside, the museum illuminates the connections between ourselves and the arts, humanities and sciences. (Approved by the SIU Board of Trustees on Sept. 12, 2013.)

Saving Two Ships: "America" and the "U.S.S. Switzerland"

In 2002, SIU students working under Mark J. Wagner, director of the Center for Archaeological Investigations, documented the "America," remains of the only Ohio River flatboat yet found. Though the river has reclaimed the wreck, valuable information was preserved.

This Civil War-era painting of the "U.S.S. Switzerland" has been a part of the museum's collection since 1938. It has many Southern Illinois connections and was selected as the first work to be conserved using a Conservation Fund newly created through the SIU Foundation to honor longtime curator Lori Huffman. Museum patrons Dr. Stuart Fischhoff and Rachel Gordon Fischhoff made the first contribution. Now the "Switzerland" sails again! Come see what professional conservation has accomplished.
